Can't touch this

Haliburton Highlands Redmen running back Chris Dobbin escapes the clutches of a Lindsay Collegiate defender in last Friday's junior football game. Dobbin teamed up with running partner Peter Brohman to thrash the Spartans 46-1 in their season opener. Details are on page 12.

Guilford lashed by high winds, rain

High winds and heavy rain whipped through West Guilford late Friday afternoon toppling trees, cutting power and telephone lines in several areas.

The storm was the result of a cold front moving through the area, which broke the three day spell of hot humid weather the Highlands experienced last week.

The storm left most areas of the Highlands with little damage, but in West Guilford, trees were uprooted and broken by the force of the weather.

The largest area of damage seemed to be concentrated behind the Guilford Boy Gift Shoppe building. There numerous large white pines were ripped from the ground or snapped in half. The tumbling trees brought down power and telephone lines.

Several large pines adjacent to the Guilford ball diamond were also uprooted by the force of the storm.

Some observers in the community describe the storm as a "twister" although sightings of a funnel cloud could not be confirmed. Residents said that just before the storm hit, it became very dark with heavy rains driven by severe winds.

Most areas of the Highlands experienced severe weather Friday afternoon, but West Guilford seemed to have suffered the worst.

Province intent on maintaining hospital

There are no plans to close down the Minden Hospital — at least as far as the Ministry of Health is concerned — says Victoria Haliburton MPP Dennis Drainville.

Responding to letters and calls he has received from constituents concerned about rumours of the hospital closing, Drainville has issued a letter (see page 7) clarifying the government's position.

"I want to take this opportunity to assure you that the government has no plans to close down the Minden hospital," he says in the letter. Contacted Friday, though, he admitted he is not as certain about the intentions of the board of St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Minden Hospital is owned and managed by St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough. Drainville says he fears the board may want to unload the Minden Hospital.

The future of the Minden Hospital is not an issue with the provincial government, says Drainville. It is an issue for St. Joseph's. "It's a very grave question," says Drainville.

Figures released by St. Joseph's Hospital in April show the Minden and Haliburton Hospitals running at a $270,000 deficit. The board's fiscal advisory committee examined the matter and concluded in June that "drastic reductions in service" at the hospitals in Haliburton County would result unless the

Lutterworth office set ablaze

A major clean-up is expected after the Lutterworth Municipal office was set on fire early Sunday morning.

The Minden Fire Department were quickly on the scene, with the help of Stanhope's fire department who brought extra air packs, to battle the blaze.

Damage due to the fire was limited to a few areas, most noticeably under the steps to the basement and to the ceiling and floor areas adjacent to the steps.

However, there was extensive smoke and water damage to the building located on Highway 35 and a major clean-up job is expected.

There were no injuries as a result of the blaze and the cause is still unknown.

Bears: They're coming out of the woods to feed but they're not causing unusual problems

Although there have been numerous sightings of bears throughout the area this season, they are not posing an serious problem.

The Ministry of Natural Resources has not received an unusual number of reports of nuisance bears this year, says Stan Flemming, area manager. He says the live traps were taken out only three or four times this year to remove nuisance bears and the office has received only a few calls about bears at the dumps.

The county has a good healthy bear population, yet for the past few years most have avoided populated areas. An excellent crop of berries last summer provided a food source which provided an abundance of food for bears and encouraged them to stay in the woods. The berry crop this summer, however, was poor and more bears seem to be coming out into the open to find food.

The ministry does not attempt to remove bears unless they become a nuisance. If, for example, they stay in a populated area for two or three days, the ministry may trap the bear and release it elsewhere. Occasionally, a bear may have to be destroyed.

To keep bears away from your property, Flemming advises people not to leave food or garbage out. Normally, bears will only come into a populated area to find food. If there is none to be found, they will look elsewhere. Bears are also attracted to apple trees and will often return to feed for several days to feed. Once the apples are gone, though, so are the bears.

Camp founder takes composting to a higher level

by Andy Holloway

Composting is often considered dirty and smelly work, but the founder of Camp Allsaw has turned it into an art form and has been nominated for a Lieutenant Governor's Conservation Award for his efforts.

Sam Hambly is up for the award as a result of his ongoing and long-standing contributions to conservation, mainly through his composting achievements.

Hambly is the inventor of the first, and so far the only, above ground insulated composter. Since he created this in 1970, he has also designed a below-ground composter as well as creating a "hot bed unit" for germination and the growth of seedlings in the early spring.

The insulated composter won an award from the Recycling Council of Ontario in 1991, an honour he modestly says was nice, but perhaps not fitting.

"It was nice to be recognized, but they're concerned with recycling for reducing garbage. I'm interested in recycling to maintain the quality of our soil," says Hambly.

The phrase "quality soil" comes up several times in conversation with Hambly who sees it as a basic necessity of life.

"There's a lot of interest in fitness today, people are out there jogging and so on, but you've got to have quality nutrition. And for quality nutrition we've got to have quality soil.

Hambly's interest in soil comes naturally, he grew up on a farm and saw the process whereby good crops come from good soil. However, he says it was not until during the Second World War that he became keenly aware of the importance of good soil. He was billeted temporarily with a Belgian family who grew their own food to overcome the difficulty of getting good food in supply-rationed Europe. The key to the large amount of quality crops was

"I think it's foolish for people to talk about incinerating garbage. Household organic garbage is a very valuable resource"

--Sam Hambly

the health of the soil says Hambly.

"I was amazed at what he was growing on that sixteenth of an acre. He explained to me that as a factory worker he wasn't a rich man so this garden was his insurance that his family would have something to eat," recalls Hambly.

After he returned to Canada, Hambly bought a plot of land under the Veterans Act which he used to serve as his home and as an informal outdoor education centre for his pupils at Runnymede Public School and McMurrich Elementary School in Toronto.

From that point on, Hambly set up a number of educational conservation programs in schools in and around the Toronto area. In 1962, Hambly founded Camp Allsaw in Haliburton County. The camp was designed to provide children with a "hands-on link with the land," something camp director Kate Moore says is still happening today.

Moore nominated Hambly for the Lieutenant Governor's Award which can be given for continuing contributions to conservation or for a single event. Moore says the campers who come to Camp Allsaw are able to see and to participate in the food growth process.

"They eat the food grown in the gardens and then they come out here and scrape their plates off into the compost which creates the soil for the garden.

That way they see the whole process," says Moore.

"There isn't enough food to feed all of us, but there's enough to show the progression."

Moore says the campers volunteer for the conservation program or for other programs so that they can follow their interests. The conservation program is one of the more popular ones says Moore.

Hambly agrees and says the hands-on approach appeals to the children.

"It's in competition with swimming, kayaking, canoeing and wind-surfing and they still find time to go to conservation and ecology which speaks well of the counsellors in charge," says Hambly.

"I think the secret of that is the fact we have them do it. Three times a day they scrape their plates and they're conscious of doing that to feed the life of the soil."

There are a number of different composters at the camp and all are effective says Moore. The most traditional composter is the large uncovered one in a small clearing near the main camp. It is about eight feet by eight feet and is surrounded by a four-foot wire fence. The top of the fence has been cut off leaving the ends as sharp as barbed wire to discourage bears (more on page 3)

Allisaw Camp director Kate Moore shows how Sam Hambly's composter become a hot bed for seed germination with the help of a glass panel. The composter is a version of Hambly's insulated model which won him a Recycling Council of Ontario award. Hambly is also up for a Lieutenant Governor's award.

Giving garbage a good name

which are attracted by the rotting food. The jagged fence does not keep out the more determined and pesky raccoon which on this day has managed to make quite a mess of the composter, but Moore says the raccoon is actually welcome.

"The raccoons help the process by turning over the soil," says Moore although this "help" would not be welcome in a more urban setting or with a smaller composter.

Despite its size, the composter does not have a bad odor because, as Moore points out, there are a number of hoses running through it and straw is regularly added to the mixture to keep the proper levels of nitrogen and carbon.

There are two above-ground insulated composters like the one for which he won the Recycling Council award, one of which is double-sized.

Hambly says he came up with the insulated composter because the conventional ones being marketed did not work in cold temperatures. Decomposition slows when the temperature drops below 10 degrees Celsius. Since Canada's winter weather is normally quite cold, an outdoor composter would not work and a lot of organic waste would just be thrown away. Simply put, Hambly placed Styrofoam around the inside of a composter and the result was that even during the coldest days, the compost temperature is comparatively balmy.

"In the middle of winter the temperature is still around 70 degrees Fahrenheit. When you take off the lid, the amount of steam coming out is quite impressive," says Moore.

Moore says Hambly's friends in the city did not like the aesthetic qualities of the above-ground composter, so Hambly proceeded to create a buried version. To this, Hambly is now working on the hot bed unit. Moore says Hambly grew a 14 foot Morning Glory flower by using the hot bed which is just a composter covered with glass panes. The unit allows an early start to Canada's growing season and would have been perfect for this summer's cold weather.

Despite all of his accomplishments, Hambly says he enjoys showing children the "food web compost life."

"I'm a facilitator. I just make it possible at Camp Allisaw for the younger generation to be involved in the environmental concept. Conservation for me has been a lot of fun, but I think it's the way to go," says Hambly.

"At the rate we're using up our good soil we can't afford not to be interested in conserving our soil resources.

I think it's foolish for people to talk about incinerating garbage. We need the garbage. Household organic garbage is a very valuable educational resource."

Dysart fighters at same level

by Andy Holloway

There will be no change in duties for Dysart's municipal fire department.

Dysart council voted last Monday to keep the fire department at the 'C' response level. Level 'C' only allows the fire department to respond to usual fire department notification. A level 'A' response would mean the fire department would respond to all emergency incidents while a 'B' response level would mean the department would have to respond to medical emergencies only if an ambulance was delayed or prevented from attending.

The fire marshal's office wanted to know if Dysart was going to upgrade its department's response level.

While council voted not to allow water and ice rescue, it also granted the marshal's office permission to hold a training seminar for fire fighters on ice and water rescue in Dysart. Reeve Chris Hodgson said council should approve the request.

"If the numbers warrant it, we may as well have it here than somewhere else," said Hodgson.

Councillor Robert Heinze asked if permission was granted then would fire fighters be obliged to provide those services. In that case, council would have to supply the proper equipment to the squad. However, clerk Donna McCallum said that would not be the case.

Councillor Gerry Walker said fire fighters would not be allowed to get involved because they, and the township, would be responsible for any insurance claim.

"The men, for themselves, are prepared to do it, but without the proper training and equipment our liability is wide open," said Walker.

Council also supported Stanhope's resolution stating that the province should continue its ice and water rescue programs and not make individual municipalities responsible for the costs and training.

Looking at landfill

by Andy Holloway

The following items were discussed at Dysart council's regular monthly meeting last Monday.

Dump committee formed

In order to get a handle on the best way to operate their landfill sites, Dysart council has formed an environmental standing committee. The idea for the committee came from Reeve Chris Hodgson who said he wanted council to be presented with the best ways to reduce garbage in the municipalities rapidly filling dump sites.

The committee's mandate will be to look at various types of cardboard compactors, dump operations and the best way to deal with recycling glass. Muskoka Containerized Services sent a letter to council asking that glass be properly separated into clear and coloured bins and that the glass is being broken when deposited.

The committee will be composed of councillors Gerry Walker, Brian Watts and Robert Heinze who will give their report at next month's council meeting before being dissolved.

Council also announced that the week of September 27 to October 4 will be Waste Reduction Week.

Sewage space available

There is enough sewage space available in Dysart to accommodate the proposed expansion of the hospital. The Ministry of the Environment confirmed Dysart has 55 equivalent residential units (ERU) available and that is easily enough to accommodate the nine ERUs the hospital would use up if it was expanded to 18 beds.

Minden Reeve Bern Berry had expressed concerns at a Haliburton Planning and Development Committee meeting that there was not enough sewage capacity in Dysart for the expansion.

Tower approved

An application to erect a 150 foot radio tower near the top of Sir Sam's ski hills has been approved by council despite objections from two area residents.

Doug Peckhover wants to use the tower for private and commercial use and it will be built next to an existing 500 foot microwave tower. There will be a small equipment building built at the base of the tower.

Dysart briefs

Reeve Chris Hodgson said he had hoped for a compromise between the opposing sides, but since that was unlikely council voted in favour of the tower. However, the issue will likely go to an Ontario Municipal Board hearing if the two residents continue their opposition.

Council heard that Peckhover may extend the tower to 300 feet in the future, but councillors said it even that would not detract from the view because of the existing tower.

Public pensions

Council does not want the province to impose mandatory pension investment programs. The province has proposed using pensions to stimulate the economy by broadening investment opportunities available to pension funds and other similar funds. The program is called the Ontario Investment Fund and would be a voluntary program. However, there are fears that the province could make it mandatory.

Kincardine was the first to oppose such usage of public funds and is asking councils around the province to support its motion. Councillor Lloyd Leadbeatler said council should pass a resolution to show the province its opposition.

"I don't believe government should be supporting questionable business enterprises and that's what they seem to want to do with it," said Leadbeatler.

Market value messages

Dysart has received more letters against market value reassessment from local residents and groups including the Miskwabi Area Cottagers association. However, council will not vote on the proposed property tax changes unless the county passes it at its next meeting on October 21. It seems the townships of Minden and Cardiff have jumped the gun by voting on market value before the county does. If county votes to put market value in place then at least six of the ten Haliburton municipalities have to support the proposal or else it dies.

Kinmount crash

Two Huntsville people escaped serious injury when this 1991 GMC Jimmy hit the shoulder of the road, went out of control and ended up on its roof. The accident occurred on Highway 121 in Kinmount on September 13 at about 12:15 p.m. The driver, Sun Ja Kwon, 50, and passenger Kwang Soo Kwon, 53, were examined by ambulance attendants at the scene but didn't require hospital treatment. No charges have been laid.

Rotary donated instruments to Dominican Republic band

The members of the Rotary Club had an opportunity recently to observe first-hand the impact their contributions to an international service project are having. The local club has contributed, along with other Rotary Clubs in this district, to assist in the support of the community of Consuelo in the Dominican Republic.

Over the years, the Minden club, in concert with others, has collected medicines and medical supplies for the Consuelo health clinic, school supplies for the elementary and secondary schools and made cash donations to assist in these areas as well as the construction of a rest home for seniors. While the collection of supplies and cash here is coordinated through the area's Rotary Clubs, the distribution in Consuelo is overseen by the Grey Sisters, a Roman Catholic order with its headquarters in Pembroke.

Among the collections the clubs carried out was an appeal for musical instruments to be used to equip a high school band in Consuelo. The call went out for donations in 1987, and a year later, the musical instruments were on their way. Since then the high school band has become a point of pride for the school and community. They entertain regularly at community events and are featured performers in neighbouring communities.

The band has also taken part in a competition at the Dominican capital, Santo Domingo, where they placed second.

The high school band of Consuelo was in Minden last Sunday (September 13), part of whirl-wind tour of this Rotary District. It was the group's way of showing their appreciation to the club members and communities which have provided the support for Consuelo. The tour, which was sponsored by the Rotary Clubs in co-operation with a number of corporate sponsors, includes stops in Sudbury, Timmins, LaSarre Quebec and south through Barrie and Collingwood. The band will also be taking in a Blue Jays game at the Sky Dome where they will be hosted by one of their own home town heroes, Alfredo Griffin.

A member of the Consuelo high school band, Andy Mercedes, presented past president Brian Adamson with a plaque and photographs marking the group's visit to Minden. The band performed using instruments donated several years ago by Rotary clubs throughout the area.

During their brief stay in Minden the band entertained the audience with a broad cross section of music which included such contemporary standards as New York, New York and old favourites like Yes, We Have No Bananas.

The band also performed a number of traditional Dominican musical pieces. Several of the instructors travelling with the band, most of whom are graduates of the high school, provided vocal accompaniment on a number of songs.

Sister Lenore Gibb, one of the teachers at Consuelo expressed the appreciation of the members of her order and the Consuelo residents for the continuing support of the Rotary Club members. "To promote better understanding among peoples is to wage peace, and this is surely what we all desire," Sister Lenore commented.

Following the concert, the band presented past president Brian Adamson with a framed certificate of appreciation which also featured photographs of the band and high school. The band members were presented with Anson, Hindon and Minden lapel pins on behalf of the community by Councillor Jean Anthon

Frustration is sign of progress

We need look no further than these pages to see that health care is a burning issue throughout the Minden area these days. The letters here are a small sample of the interest this issue has generated in recent months.

One philosophy calls for the creation of a central hospital for the county while another says the present location of the Minden Hospital is ideal. Rumour tells us the Minden Hospital is about to be closed down, but our Provincial Member tells us otherwise.

All this, and we're still only scratching the surface of the full issue. In addition to acute care, we must consider chronic care, home care, long term care, trauma... the list goes on and on. The more we learn about the health care network in this county, the more we realize just how complex it is.

The key players in this story are the Ministry of Health, working with a belt-tightening budget; the cash-strapped St. Joseph's Hospital board, and the local committee searching for a way to get the most out of the little money that is available. The committee has initiated a study to look at long term health care and is pushing ahead with the proposed expansion of the Haliburton Hospital. An additional element of the study is to examine acute care services in the Minden area and make recommendations for the future.

If you find this confusing, you're not alone. It is a very complex and confusing issue. It's also an issue of vital importance to the community and, therefore, is deserving of our full attention.

What will happen with health care in the Minden area is anyone's guess. What should happen is wide open to debate. What is happening is frustrating and aggravating, but on the flip side it's reassuring to see some progress being made.

Superman finally bites the Krypton dust

Faster than a speeding bullet
More powerful than a locomotive
Able to leap tall buildings in a single bound
It's a bird, it's a plane, it's...

All over folks. As of next month the guy in the blue leotards and flowing red cape is history. The Man of Steel is headed for the slag heap. Superman is about to die.

My comic book spies tell me it will happen in DC Superman issue #75, which is scheduled to hit the streets about three weeks from today. In that issue, I am told, Superman runs afoul of an intergalactic maniac by the name of Doomsday, a chap who's on unsupervised leave from a cosmic lunatic asylum. Rumour has it that Mister Doomsday has huge muscles, magic powers and a bad attitude towards authority.

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

Heck, that doesn't sound like anything the most famous son of Krypton couldn't handle. Over the years, he's put the boots to hundreds of terrorists, tyrants and thugs — home-grown and extraterrestrial.

But not this time. The fellows with the flow charts at DC's executive offices have decreed that it is time for the caped crusader to make the one-way trip to Superhero Heaven.

It's going to leave a big cavity in the fantasy world of comic lovers. Oh, there are still lots of superheros to choose from.

They run the gamut from Spider Man and Captain Marvel to Electra and the Silver Surfer. But Superman was the original. He was the character that spawned the whole galaxy of flashy, overpowered imitators.

Legend has it that Superman was born on the dying planet Krypton, but that's not true. Superman was in fact, born on the back of a piece of left-over wall paper in an apartment in downtown Toronto. It happened in the depths of the Great Depression (no, Brian — the one before this one). Superman was the brainchild of a Toronto artist by the name of Joe Shuster. In 1938, Shuster doodled the first images of Superman, showed them to his pal, Jerry Siegel, and together they pitched DC Comics on the idea of a new comic book hero.

Minden Hospital is handling present needs

Editor:

This is a copy of a memo sent to Mr. Mel Johnston of St. Joseph's Hospital Board.

RE: Minden Hospital and health care in our area

Dear Sir:

As I understand, our current topic starts with the "Report of the Task Force on Bed Needs, Acute, Chronic and Extended Care Levels, 1985", under a Conservative government. This was requested by St. Joseph's Hospital and carried out by the District Health Council with the findings prompting 18 chronic beds for Haliburton County.

Formulation and fund raising was in progress, but wait! It's 1988 (under a Liberal government), the Ministry of Health cancels out, to be revamped with a "Long Term Care Plan" at a later date.

So it's 1991, bring on the results of yet another study, "Long Term Care", (under an NDP government) recommending a total of 30 long term care beds, 15 in Minden area and 15 in Haliburton area, requesting that each area establish the ability to administer and maintain, as well as provide, appropriate facilities to house same.

These various committees have worked within the guidelines of all three of our political parties in the last seven years, so hopefully, through this wealth of experience encompassing the wide views and opinions of many politicians, bureaucrats, concerned citizens, as well as their very backbone, the volunteer committee members, they will arrive at a solution acceptable to many, and for the good of the whole County of Haliburton.

Be that as it may, I am concerned about our Minden Hospital!

The Minden Hospital is not involved with long term care beds and has no funding for same! It is concerned with acute care facilities and emergency services. It's present funding supports seven acute beds and two cribs and the doctors and staff are rightfully proud of their excellent first-class service.

It could use more storage room and an area for doctors to collect their thoughts as well as a therapy area, rather than the 32-mile round trip to Haliburton. The Ministry says our wooden structure is suitable. Surely with some public funding we can renovate this very much needed facility in its present accessible location. Let us update it as required to meet safety and service standards. Our area people and our transit visitors need the assurance that this hospital is there for their emergency needs, as well as their interim health care.

While we must look to the future to address our long term care concerns, we must not lose sight of our present needs, which are being handled quite well by the Minden Hospital in its current location.

A concerned citizen,
Lewis Stevens

University needs help to save croaking frogs

Editor:

For cottagers and nature lovers throughout the area, the sound of summertime bullfrog choruses is a familiar, well-loved mainstay of the season. As many cottagers and naturalists can attest, bullfrog populations are dwindling in some lakes and ponds.

One does not have to be a scientist to observe that, in some areas, bullfrog populations have declined. Often, the causes are obvious: the destruction of shoreline habitat may render a pond or lake unsuitable for bullfrogs. Poachers take a severe toll on populations; in a matter of hours, a poacher can capture and kill every bullfrog in a small pond, altering the population drastically for the next several years.

Pesticides and pollution are having a more subtle, but equally damaging effect in some areas.

As a part of our preliminary studies on bullfrog populations in the Kawartha and surrounding regions, we are asking for the aid of residents and cottagers who, over the years, have noticed changes in a bullfrog population in a specific locale.

Have you observed declining bullfrog numbers near your home or cottage? What do you feel are the causes? Please contact us at the following address.

Deal could be ruined by selfish people

Editor:

It's a desperate world, and in my opinion, our country is like a lame duck, waiting to be killed and devoured.

The facts are - we do have peace, we do have jobs, and we do have food.

There are so many "others", that we must keep our wits about us and timing is crucial.

If the Premiers could forego self-interest for the good of the whole, then are we not as wise?

A women's group (National Action Committee), has said they will oppose the constitution for self-interest reasons.

I point to the conditions surrounding us as a country, and stress that attention be focused on our world neighbours and their problems.

If we do not wish to be overrun by the extreme conditions that exist; we must hold it together now, and deal with the details later.

Drainville says government will not be closing hospital

Editor:

There have been a number of rumours about the closing of the Minden Hospital. I have had a number of letters and phone calls from concerned residents worried about the future of the hospital.

I want to take this opportunity to assure you that the government has no plans to close down the Minden hospital. The concerns of those who spoke with me and wrote to me prompted me to speak with the Minister of Health months ago and she reassured me that the hospital in Minden will not be closing. The rumours that have been circulated regarding the closing of the hospital have been put forward by individuals who have their own political agendas. Those agendas are not the policy of the government of Ontario.

The government will continue to support the Minden Hospital. I must say also, I was impressed by the many positive experiences you recounted regarding the hospital.

I thank all those constituents who have written and phoned me about their concerns regarding the future of health care in Haliburton County.

Sincerely,
Dennis Drainville, MPP

Locate health care facilities in the centre says resident

Editor:

The Minden-Haliburton controversy could be better solved by building one large hospital right in the middle on highway 121.

The cartoon in The Times two weeks ago had the problem solved. It would be a better, larger hospital serving both communities. It could be hooked up to the much-needed sewer system along with a new county building, courthouse and high school.

A hospital answerable to our own board of directors and receiving our own funding from the Ministry of Health.

The properties and buildings could be sold off, for example, as clinics, schools or offices.

Bury the hatchet in the ditch with the sewer pipes and shake hands in the middle of the site of the new Haliburton County Hospital and end the tale of two cities.

Bus service between both places would be nice too.

Thank you
Nick Fomenko

Industry bean-counters kill Man of Steel

(from page 6)

The tycoons at DC liked the concept. They wined and dined the boys and then sweet-talked them into the biggest blunder of their lives. Joe Shuster and Jerry Seigel sold all the Superman rights to DC.

For $180 U.S.

Pretty soon, Superman was an international star and Jerry and Joe were still grubbing along as graphic artists for DC. They sued the company for more money. The company responded by firing them on the spot.

Over the next 25 years the two originators sued again and again — and always lost. Finally, a few years back the papers got wind of the story. The public wasn't too pleased to hear about the chintzy treatment Superman's creators were receiving. Embarrassed, the company awarded Seigel and Shuster pensions of $20,000 apiece.

Meanwhile, Superman had left his wallpaper origins far behind for the celluloid glory of Hollywood. The Superman films were box office smashes and brought in hundreds of millions each year for the company. In appreciation, the company moguls bumped the Seigel and Shuster pensions up another ten grand each.

"Victory" was rather academic at this point for Joe Shuster. He was in his 70's, blind and unable to draw.

Oh well, time eventually blindsides all of us — even the Man of Steel. Ironically it won't be Kryptonite or Lex Luthor or any of the regular arch-fiends that do in Superman.

It won't even really be Mister Doomsday.

It'll be the bean-counters at DC. The bottom-line boys have decided that people aren't buying enough Superman comics anymore.

Ergo, cut your losses. Kill him off.

At least they won't have to explain the decision to the man who gave us Superman in the first place.

Joe Shuster died in Los Angeles on July 30th.

Holding your nose and voting on new deal

Editor:

As we are all aware the House of Commons has agreed that the following question be put before the Canadian public on October 26, 1992. "Do you agree that the Constitution of Canada should be renewed on the basis of the agreement reached on August 28, 1992?"

It would be great if the Canadian public was informed as to the supposed contents of the August 28 agreement. Listening to our elected officials, it would seem half of the items in the text are not a closed forum, but, to be further discussed and ascertained at a later date. Will we have to travel down the garden path of potholes once again?

There are a couple of obstacles in trying to sell this deal to Canadians. Let us put aside the issue of this being another "backroom deal", decided by the chosen few, First Ministers, and not by the public at large. The matter, as a private citizen, of trying to obtain a copy of the August 28, 1992 agreement will be forgotten for the time being, as we are informed receipt of the material could take as long as the beginning of November, right after the referendum.

The Senate is prohibited from passing legislation endorsing its abolition. The Senate can not raise taxes or expenditures on its own. It must live within the means or portion of money allocated to it by the House of Commons. When both Houses are elected and split by political suits, the Senate would face quite a retribution if it dares challenge the House of Commons. The alternative is to allow the Senate to raise our taxes. Just what Canadians need more of.

Let us cast aside differences of opinion in relation to Triple E Senate, Linguistic Duality, Distinct Society, Aboriginal Self-Government and the like, just for an instant. We are left with blank pages if these passages are removed. This dubbed Agreement of August 28 is nothing more than an election ploy.

Mr. Mulroney wishes the next election to be fought on this one principle alone, so as to mask their blunders of the last several years due to everyone focusing on this one election issue. This is cheap politicking and in the eyes of some Canadians may influence them to vote P.C. Choose a referendum date of November, 1993.

I feel, however, that Canadians will vote yes, including myself, on October 26, 1992. This is from basically being overconstitutionalized to death by the government, but not allowing the common people to speak. You will probably receive a yes vote just to quieten you down, so as to allow you to deal with the real problems of this nation, the economic agenda.

Mr. Mulroney will finally get his wishes: 1) To sign something that is not a tax hike, 2) to put his John Hancock on a piece of history, although undeservedly so, and 3) have the Progressive Conservative list him in the annals of great men like Sir John A. MacDonald.

Through all of this thick and thin, it seems the above listed obstacles will be overcome.

The main objection to the whole issue, lock, stock and barrel, is that such an unbelievable and unauthentic man as Mr. Mulroney would have the support of an equally non-credible gentleman, Bob Rae. How can these two guys see eye-to-eye on any issue and still expect the public to believe a word they say. They will be on the same stage, basically quoting each other, and stating what a great guy each other is. This issue alone can spell the demise of any accord or agreement. My father told me there would be days like this; and I never believed him until now.

If these two gentlemen say that this "deal" is in the best interest of Canada, they can not be basing their ideology on past performances.

I would, however, ask the public to vote on referendum day, no matter what their choice, yes or no. Have your opinion, but please go and cast your ballot, as this is your time to speak.

G. Trudell
Hamilton

Promising alternatives

America may have the answer for public schools

One of the main issues arising from the market value assessment debacle was the realization by many that education is a large part of the property tax bill.

For the first time some are questioning both how much is spent on public education and how their children are being taught in class. "The schools should be run like a business" is a common enough conclusion about why the education system is cracking under its own bureaucratic weight.

Unfortunately, education is run like a business, a Canadian business.

At the top is the government handing out grants and overall policy creating the framework within which the education business must run. Next, a board of directors, or trustees in this case, try to balance the money coming in and the services going out. Underneath them, the teachers and other staff are the employees who are hired to carry out the board's decisions. As in many other industries, teachers belong to a powerful union (federation) which can tie the system up. The ideal product is the well-rounded and smiling child holding a diploma in an outstretched fist.

There are few differences between an education board and a non-profit organization, so perhaps officials should consider alternative ways of applying the business principle to the education system. Two experimental programs are up and running in the United States and in competition with each other.

The voucher system, wherein parents get a "scholarship fee" to send a child to the school of their choice, is one favoured in a recent Saturday Night article. Critics say this would destroy the public education system, which the article argues is just the point. In effect what is created is a series of semi-private schools, the best of which can pick and choose the best students. The poorer students, or those from a socially disadvantaged background get to attend the bad schools with the bad teachers.

Even in a best-case scenario where the system works, a major point is being missed by both critics and supporters alike. The system may be fine in an urban area like New York where there are enough students to fill several schools and therefore different types of schools can be created, but not in rural areas.

What happens in Haliburton?

The answer is simple, the students will get poor teachers, the best having been lured by the variety of teaching positions offered at the schools in larger centres, and hence a poorer education than their city cousins. There will be the occasional teacher who stays out of love for the area, but not many.

Fair? Not really. Democracies are based on giving people an equal chance to succeed in life. While this is definitely not the reality, it is the ideal. The voucher system, in effect, says the poor, disadvantaged and small-town residents are not worth considering.

Another system being looked at in the States is more interesting and practical. In Miami's Dade County, a business is actually running a public school.

The firm uses the money the government would have spent on education, and applies business principles to running the operation. If workers, in this case teachers, do not work out - they're fired. If they do work over and above what is expected then they get a bonus. Of course, this would mean a reduction in the amount of power the teacher's unions wield - an unlikely proposition without government interference.

The best part about the system is that no students are denied access to the school because they're from a poor background or did not comb their hair that morning, unlike the voucher system. It is a public school, but without the layers of bureaucracy associated with that ancient institution.

However, what is similar to the voucher system is the responsiveness to the community. If something should be taught in the school, like Spanish for Miami schools, then the parents can get something done about it. In the Canadian system, parents would have to apply to the trustees who then have to go to the government for funding. A committee is set up to study the matter, design curriculum and examine the feasibility, and the end result is that nothing happens.

There, the parents can appeal directly to those who control the money and the program's content.

Why would a business do such a thing? Simple - children are consumers. When they grow up they will know who was responsible for their education, creating a brand loyalty. Is it any wonder the businesses in this system in the U.S. are in the high technology area and dependent on there being enough smart people out there to use their equipment.

The only problem is again the lack of businesses large enough to do such a job in smaller rural areas. However, the province could take the money it would save from such a system in urban areas and use it for incentives to allow businesses to take over schools in rural areas.

No matter what happens, the taxpayer will still foot the bill for education whether it be based on property or income, but at least there are alternatives which should be looked at responsibly before people howl for education's scalp.

Irondale roads in poor shape

Editor:

I would like to congratulate Snowdon Township on the worst maintained roads in the county.

Now that almost everyone in the township needs a new front end in their vehicle, they have decided to try grading their roads. The grading job they did on the Irondale Road is almost as good as I could have done if I had dragged my shirt behind the half-ton coming across it.

Resource centre takes on the world

by Andy Holloway

It's 8:30 a.m., your history project assigned two months ago is due today and all you have to show for your work is a sheet of paper with just your name on it which you jotted down moments ago, out goes the cry, "Moooooooooooo, can you help me," or "I lost my essay in the snowstorm."

If this is you, it's probably too late to think about what resources were available to you, but one you probably did not know about is the Kawartha World Issues Centre (KWIC).

Located in Peterborough, KWIC is a resource centre devoted entirely to world issues.

The centre's mandate is to focus on issues that are supposed to reflect the interests of the five counties (Haliburton, Victoria, Peterborough, Hastings and Northumberland) it serves and it does have information on the environment, health issues and housing - all of which have been prominent in the local news as of late.

However, KWIC also has information on militarism and international debt, not topics that are on the tip of everybody's tongues, but the outreach coordinator for KWIC says it is surprising how many people use the centre.

Kim Allen says KWIC has a broad focus on global issues in order to allow people to understand that things happening in Canada are also happening in other places in the world.

"People are starting to make the connections and making the links between what is happening, for example, in South America and what is happening in Canada to the farmers," says Kim Allen. "The fact that its the multi-nationals who have all of the control over prices rather than the farmer himself."

On the surface it would appear the centre is just another library, no better or worse than most libraries that have areas devoted to scholarly pursuits. After all, most libraries have books, tapes, videos, magazines and resource kits.

However, the centre also organizes seminars, workshops and guest speakers on global issues, for example during the last week of September the centre is having a conference on sustainable development and globalization.

"We do direct work with global issues and we link it to the community such as with issues like farming," says Allen explaining the difference between normal libraries and KWIC.

Allen says the centre has documentaries about other countries which were made in those countries and so they get more in-depth information about a subject than a public library.

It is no coincidence that one of the major users of the centre are students from nearby Trent University who pay an annual levy with their tuition fees.

KWIC is open to the public free of charge, but in order to get all of the services for free, like use of a computer, a quarterly newsletter and being allowed to sign material out, you have to become a member, which costs $20. However, anyone is free to read or use the centre's resources.

The centre is funded through community donations, fund-raising projects and Trent University students.

As well, the Canadian International Development Agency, a government body, provides grants matching all funds raised in the community.

The centre is open weekdays and located at 106 Murray St., Peterborough which may seem a little far to go, but a little knowledge does go a long way.

Trent-Severn Waterway report

After a very wet August, the Kawartha-Haliburton area received a further 35 to 60 mm of rain by September 10. This has caused the need for higher river flows to continue this week.

Gull River flow is getting close to 30 cubic metres per second and the Otonabee flow has reached about 125 cubic metres per second in the week ending September 12. The respective September averages are 18 cubic metres per second on the Gull and 40.4 cubic metres per second on the Otonabee.

Haliburton lake level still averaged 68.9 percent on September 8, 14 percent higher than 1991. The Kawartha lakes have been somewhat over-filled, but by the end of the week they were into a slow decline.

Lower levels and reduced Otonabee flows should be possible by next week, beginning September 13, if drier weather is continuing then.

MPP questions deficit claim for two Highlands hospitals

Ministry of Health provided special funding to cover the costs associated with running the two hospitals. The ministry responded by directing the board to not take any "precipitous action" until the study of long term health care for Haliburton County is complete.

Concert series tickets on sale

Tuesday September 15 marked the first meeting of the season for the Haliburton Highlands Adult Concert Series.

This meeting, held at the Rails' End Gallery, launched a subscription drive for the coming winter season.

The committee is pleased to present another marvellous series to celebrate the thirtieth year of bringing outstanding artists to the stage in Haliburton.

This season's line-up opens with Stephen and Cathy Rollins, who will bring classical guitar and flute to the stage on November 22. Duo pianists Popov and Vona will perform on February 28, and Fourwest will provide piano, cello, soprano and flute to a Highlands audience on March 28. All concerts begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Haliburton Legion Hall.

Thanks to a grant received from the Ontario Arts Council, subscription for all three concerts are being offered at the same price as last year - adults $36 and students $15.

Individual tickets may be available at the door on concert nights for $17 for adults and $10 for students.

Tickets are now available through the Rails' End Gallery, Nancy's Flowers, Minden IDA and Highlands Jewellery.

Drainville says he spoke with the Health minister months ago and was reassured the Minden Hospital will not be closing. The rumours are false, he says, and have been put forth by those "with their own political agendas".

Drainville says he has concerns about the operating deficit proclaimed by the hospital board for the Minden and Haliburton Hospitals. He said he wants to see a detailed breakdown of expenses at the two hospitals to verify the figures.

Drainville echoed comments made two weeks earlier by a member of the local long term health care planning and development committee. At the last committee meeting Michael Collins questioned the validity of St. Joseph's figures, pointing to what he believed to be flaws. Depreciation, for example, has been claimed for a piece of equipment which was donated to the hospital, he said.

The committee is pressing ahead with a study to find feasible solutions to the shortage of long term care facilities in the county. This study will also examine and make recommendations on other health care issues in the area, including the future of acute care in the Minden area.

FOCA raising funds for training centre

The Federation of Ontario Cottagers Associations has launched a fundraising drive to help volunteer firefighters improve their skills.

FOCA is contacting its member associations in the hopes they will contribute to a fund to expand the firefighters training facility in Norwood.

Volunteer firefighters are called on to fight fires ranging from those in office buildings to homes and other structures. They have no shortage of information, but they sometimes lack the practical training necessary to fight fires effectively while limiting their own personal risk.

The only dedicated training centre for this purpose is located in Norwood. It is comprised of a building which housed a breathing apparatus maze, a three-story training tower, an apparatus and equipment building and partially completed classroom building.

FOCA hopes to raise $250,000 for necessary upgrading and improvements to include completion of the classroom building, installation of a water reservoir, development of a vehicle extrication and rescue training area, installation of a simulated tank storage area for training in hazardous materials, and installation of a farm silo for training in rescue and fire suppression.

Plowing match draws thousands to Lindsay area

Thousands upon thousands of people came to Lindsay last week to get a glimpse of the largest show of its kind in the province - the International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Show.

There was so much to see and do at this enormous event it was impossible to take it all in in a day. Machinery demonstrations, cooking shows and an auction are a small sampling of what was available.

The event was staged on a George Graham's farm, just outside Lindsay and boasted a 100-acre "tent city". This is the second time in 21 years for Victoria County to host the event, and on all accounts they did a fine job. The right to host the plowing match is won through a bidding process. Next year's match is to be held in Bruce County.

Haliburton County's participation in the event was limited this year to display from maple syrup producers.

Red, white blast

The Haliburton Redmen football teams will face I.E. Weldon on Friday for the Red and White game.

Redmen are double trouble

CRUNCH: Somewhere under this pile-up is the football. And it's a safe bet that one of the Redmen juniors has his hands on it. The Redmen thumped the visiting LCVI Spartans 46-1 in the season opener.

by Andy Holloway

The Lindsay Collegiate Spartans forgot to bring their arsenal to Haliburton last Friday as they were thoroughly dominated by the Redmen.

Both junior and senior Haliburton Highlands Secondary School football teams put a beating on the teams from LCVI. The junior Redmen started the afternoon off by pummeling the Spartans 46-1. In the second game of the doubleheader, the senior Redmen fought hard for a 20-3 victory.

"This is a major victory for us," said coach Gary Brohman of the senior's win. "LCVI is usually the premier team in our division."

The senior Redmen got off to a good start when running back Andy Bacon, with some good footwork, scored a touchdown on a nice reverse play. Kicker Jamie Kiefer connected with a convert and the Redmen had all the points they would need to win.

The Spartans scored a field goal to make it 7-3, but that was as close as they would come to the Redmen. Running back Endres Weber, who wins the dirtiest uniform award, scored in the second quarter with the first of his two touchdown runs. Weber was a running force all day long and frequently gave the Spartans problems. Kiefer converted and the half ended with the Redmen up 14-3.

In the third quarter, the natural elements really came into play and the game quickly became a game of power, with the Redmen holding their own through the driving rain and muddy field.

LCVI won the coin toss to start the quarter, but gave the Redmen the wind. Weber took advantage of that decision and scored from the one yard line with an off-tackle play to make it 20-3. The extra point was missed as the snap on the convert was fumbled.

After that, the Redmen defence showed their abilities keeping the Spartans pinned deep in their own end for the rest of the game.

"They had the wind in the fourth quarter, but we nullified their offence," said a pleased Brohman about his defence.

Fresh faces are onside

Field hockey team will rely on rookies this year

by Oliver Greer

With the first game of the season approaching, the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School field hockey team is finalizing its training and ready to take the field.

Kit Pizzey the team's head coach says the team has very good enthusiasm and a winning attitude this year. To go along with that, she says the team's skills are also coming along very well.

The only area Pizzey says the players need more work on is their physical conditioning. This is worked on in practice, but Pizzey would like to see the girls work more on their own to improve their conditioning.

Last year, eight of the team's experienced players graduated or moved away and one, Jamie Kent, was lost due to an injury. This leaves the team almost half-comprised of rookies, but Pizzey says their enthusiasm will help them overcome their lack of experience.

Pizzey says her main concern when coaching the girls is to provide an opportunity to have fun, but trying to get winning results is also a concern.

This year the team is competing in a pool comprised of six other teams. Of these teams, Thomas A. Stewart and St. Peter's are traditionally strong and will likely pose the biggest challenge to the Redmen.

The top three teams in the pool will advance to the Kawartha play-offs and Pizzey says this is an attainable goal for the team to set.

Despite the fact students get time off to see the Red and White football game and the opening hockey game, students are not excused from classes to watch the girl's field hockey home opener on October 7. Pizzey defends the school's position and says this is not a sexist policy.

"It's due to timing and administrative reasons more than anything else," says Pizzey.

She then went on to explain that a field hockey game only takes 55 minutes to play and it is felt that some students would not return to classes after the game.

As for girl's soccer, Pizzey says the season takes place near the end of the school year and teachers feel it is very important students are in classes at this time.

New Haliburton outdoors association gets local support

by Jerry Grozelle

Enthusiasm ran high at the inaugural meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association (HHOA) September 13 at the Dysart Community Centre in the Village of Haliburton. An estimated 180 to 200 people took a couple of hours out of one of the nicest Sundays in several weeks to lend their support to the fledgling Association.

Before the meeting even got under way, about 35 people had dug into their wallets and turned over some cash to join the organization and by the time it was over, more than 75 per cent of the people in attendance had done the same.

The HHOA, with 150 paid members after just two hours of existence, is dedicated to the interests of hunters and anglers of Haliburton County and surrounding areas.

Peter Hynard, a member of the steering committee, explained that the purpose of the Association is two-fold: "To promote the outdoor sports of hunting and fishing, and to protect the outdoor activities of its members."

Hynard said that Ministry of Natural Resources statis-

An estimated 200 people turned out for the first meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association. By the end of the meeting 150 people had joined the organization and 23 people had been elected to the Board of Directors.

tics show that 35,000 anglers and 8,000 hunters enjoy their pursuits in Haliburton County alone. The year-round population of the County is 10,000, with cottagers increasing the seasonal population by 60,000. The numbers show that hunting and fishing are important activities in the area.

Hunting and fishing are a deep-rooted tradition in The Highlands and the members of the Association plan to do as much as possible to ensure that their children and grandchildren have the opportunity to continue that tradition.

"The second purpose of the Association," Hynard said, "is to protect the outdoor interests of its members; to speak and to lobby on your behalf on matters of importance to you."

The membership applications ask respondents to list the types of outdoor recreational activities that they are interested in and the top priorities that the HHOA should

Big football wins over Lindsay school

The low score is deceptive as both the Redmen offence and defence continually out-hustled their counterparts. A number of times, the Redmen had the ball deep in Spartan territory only to be denied at the last second. As well, Bacon returned a punt for a touchdown only to have it called back on a penalty.

While the score may not have been representative in the senior game, it certainly was in the junior game. The junior Redmen, led by a backfield of Peter Brohman, Chris Dobbin and Tim Kiefer were too much for the Spartans to handle. Particularly impressive was Brohman who seemed to be able to run at will against a small Spartan defence.

The defending Central Ontario champions scored early and often, building up a 28-1 first half lead. Brohman set the tone for the game on the Redmen's first offensive play running 41 yards for a 6-0 lead. The two point convert attempt failed, but it was clear nothing would stop the Redmen on this day. Later, Brohman rumbled for 75 yards for his third touchdown of the day on the second last play of the half.

The Redmen tried two-point converts after each touchdown, not to run up the score said coach Brohman, but because the team has not learned how to run the more conventional convert. Brohman, in fact, did his best to keep the score down by putting Peter Brohman on the bench, but all that happened was that Chris Dobbin took up the offensive slack and the Redmen continued on.

While the running backs held the day, Brohman also singled out his defence and several others including rookie quarterback Sam Little who Brohman said "executed very, very well."

The Redmen's next doubleheader is on Friday against I.E. Weldon in the big annual Red and White Day.

be addressing.

The members of the steering committee came up with a list of concerns that they felt needed attention. One is the public image of hunters.

"I certainly am not a drunken, trigger-happy trespasser who changes character the moment I pull on my gum boots and orange hat," Hynard told an appreciative audience. "I'm not dangerous to myself, my companions or the public. And I care deeply about wildlife populations. I want my public image to reflect my true nature, and I know you do too."

Fenelon, Minden make final grade

At last. After two weeks of waiting, the Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers will be getting a chance to bring home the Tri-County Fastball League championship.

The Hustlers have been waiting for the outcome of the other semi-final series between Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon, after quickly dispatching Lindsay 3-1 to the sidelines in their own series.

Last Sunday, Fenelon finally knocked off the stubborn team from Bobcaygeon with a close 5-4 win. Bobcaygeon, despite their poor regular season record, gave Fenelon a tougher-than-expected time by winning twice in the best-of-five series.

Minden and Fenelon, the two best teams during the regular season, will start the finals on Tuesday in Fenelon with the second game of the series to be played in Minden on Thursday.

During the season Minden had a slight edge over Fenelon winning four of their six games. In fact, Minden was the only team to play consistently well against the front-runners as Fenelon lost only two other times during the season.

If the Hustlers are to continue their winning ways, they will have to get to Fenelon's pitching phenomenon Jeff Hutton, which has not happened very often this year, or rely on the arms of their own pitcher duo of Brian Shaw and Jack Snell. Both Shaw and Snell have had success against Fenelon hitters who, while not overpowering, often group their hits together to score just enough runs to support Hutton.

Finals (best of five)

Fenelon Falls vs. Minden
Future games:

Thursday Sept. 24 @ Minden
Sunday Sept. 27 @ Fenelon Falls

Games four and five to be announced if necessary

Also on the Association's agenda, is working towards improving local hunting and fishing opportunities, public access to lakes, and lobbying for extended seasons for archery or black powder hunting.

Education, aimed at both the HHOA members and the general public, is also high on the list of priorities. Educating people about the importance of game and fish management and the wise use and conservation of natural resources is one goal.

"I'd like to see workshops and seminars on subjects like techniques to reduce stress and improve survival of fish that are caught and released," Hynard said.

Improvement of wildlife habitat in co-operation with the MNR and private landowners is another area that was discussed. Projects like cleaning silted trout spawning beds and building loon nesting platforms were a couple of examples.

Hynard pointed out that although hunting is safer than down-hill skiing, the Association will strive to further improve that safety record. He credited the Hunter safety Training Course as a major factor in the improved safety record of hunters over the past 35 years. The HHOA plans to get involved in teaching this course in the near future.

Keeping abreast of impending regulations and lobbying for effective laws, not ineffective and unduly restrictive ones, the Association will be working to protect the interest of hunters and anglers.

The HHOA will be affiliated with the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters. Dan Buhl, a director on the OFAH board, explained the advantages and benefits of belonging to the Federation, not the least of which is the insurance that OFAH members receive with their membership dues. OFAH members also receive a subscription to Ontario OUT OF DOORS magazine, which carries up-to-date news and views of the OFAH.

Although the HHOA is tiny by comparison to the 75,000-plus OFAH, the Haliburton County and area organization will be able to present a strong voice to and through the much larger Federation. In total, five people took their turn at the podium to explain the various aspects of the new Association.

There were two other highlights of the afternoon. The first was a musical interlude with three tunes performed by the Old Saw Hunt Camp Band.

The two-man band, consisting of Bart Hilhorst on guitar and vocals with Bruce Metherall on bass, performed three original songs that were composed at the deer hunting camp. All three songs had a hunting or fishing theme.

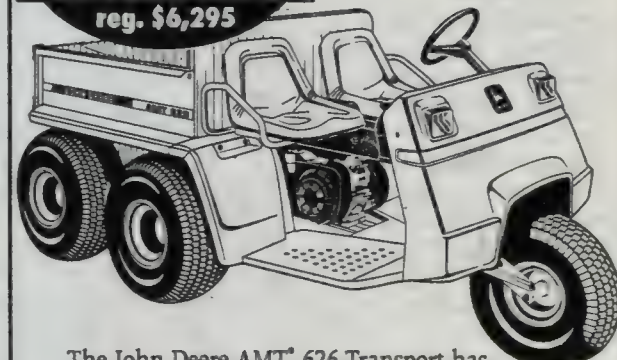

The other was guest speaker Mike Wilton's enlightening, and often humorous, presentation on Moose in Ontario. Wilton, a biologist from Huntsville, is no stranger to the area, having hunted with the Old Saw Hunt Camp.

A total of 23 directors were elected to serve on the HHOA board. They will get together and appoint an executive committee from among their ranks.

Senior soccer success

Juniors go down to defeat against Weldon

The Redmen senior boys soccer team opened up their season with a convincing 5-0 over I.E. Weldon Secondary School last Wednesday.

The win should prove beneficial for the senior Haliburton Highlands team's confidence level after the tough season they had last year. In previous years, the Redmen have usually fielded an excellent team and this year looks no different.

The first half was fairly tentative as both teams took their time feeling out the opposition. However, late in the half Nico Haedicke scored to stake the Redmen to a 1-0 lead.

In the second half, the Redmen poured it on, overwhelming I.E. Weldon's defence and scoring four unanswered goals. Darren Parsons and Bill Bradley each scored a pair to lead the Redmen attack. One of Parsons' goals was a perfectly placed direct kick into the top right hand corner of the net.

Parsons and Bradley supplied the bulk of the scoring, but coach Walter Tose singled out Mike Morrison as being one of the better players. Tai Gerrard also got a taste of the action and played well in his first game.

While the senior team was mopping the floor with Weldon, the juniors were having a tough time in their game. The junior Redmen tried hard, but wound up losing 4-0 in their first game of the season.

Many of last year's players from the Kawartha West champion's squad have moved up to the senior's team leaving a large group of rookies to pick up the pace. Tose said the juniors played well considering the number of new kids on the team.

Tose said the team has a lot of raw talent which, when they learn to play as a cohesive team, could give the rest of the league some problems. Tose said Jamie Thivierge played a particularly good game while goal keeper Scott Dedman did his best to stem Weldon's tide. Dedman could not be faulted on the four goals he gave up and should be able to keep a young, inexperienced team in many games.

The Redmen travel to Lindsay Collegiate to take on the Spartans this Wednesday which should prove to be a good test to show whether the Redmen have what it takes this year.

After a tentative start, the action heated up in the Redmen senior soccer team's opening game last Wednesday. They broke the scoring wide open in the second half, rallying to a 5-0 win over Lindsay's I.E. Weldon.

Former Windsor player heads up Redmen line

by Oliver Greer

With five years of high school football and five of years play at the university level, Mike Hawkins certainly has plenty of experience as an athlete.

This knowledge will undoubtedly come in handy at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School where he teaches math and is the newest member of the Redmen football coaching staff.

Hawkins was born in Windsor and it was there that he attended high school and began playing football. While in university he was a starting offensive lineman for the University of Windsor Lancers and upon graduation received a degree in geography with a minor in mathematics.

Hawkins says he never had ambitions about playing professional because he felt he was too small and he wanted to fulfil a different career dream of his.

"I've wanted to teach since about grade 11 or 12," says Hawkins.

Playing football in university was a way for Hawkins to learn more about the game and gain experience for future coaching positions.

Hawkins' fondest memory of football is the friends he made through the sport. University football gave him a way to meet people with similar interests to his own.

This year, Hawkins coaches the offensive and defensive lines for the senior Redmen. Hawkins says the team's chances this year are looking good.

A major factor in the team's favour, says Hawkins, is the high level of experience possessed by the squad with some players taking part in their fourth or fifth seasons.

Coach Hawkins says he feels good about the team and expects them to be on top when the dust settles.

Golfing no easy slide for curlers

Submitted by Aileen Blears

'And young and old come forth to play
On a sunshine holiday
Till the livelong daylight fail;
Then to the spicy nut-brown ale,
With stories told with many a feat'
John Milton (1608-1674)

The above was written more than 300 years ago, but could, with minor changes, apply to last Wednesday when the Minden Senior Curling Club held another successful golfing day at Blairhampton Golf Club with dinner at Deer Lodge.

Seventeen teams participated in the event. One diplomatic golfer got amazingly creative on the sixth hole when he said to a teammate, "Golly, you must have hit that ball well. The water sure splashed high."

Fickle Mother Nature, after producing a 'summer' fit only for web-footed creatures, turned on the heat and humidity accompanied by a light wind, and made the day enjoyable.

A.C. Stone in "Leisure World" humourously notes, "Despite popular opinion, it is not necessary to replace most divots. However, to avoid the wrath of the group behind you, it is considered polite to put back any piece of sod bigger than your foot-print." Evidently, all divots were replaced as no one was caught in such low-class behaviour.

After a buffet dinner, Ebbie Bishop, in his out-going way, entertained with some very funny jokes. Then he got 'serious' and presented prizes to those teams who were either extremely good at golf, or very bad at math (joke intended - please laugh).

The Shuyler Trophy was won with a score of 34 by the team of John Thomas, Milt Endicott and Rene Codlin.

Roy McDonald and his team of Marion Thomas, Stan Hill and Ross Codlin were second place winners with a score of 35. A score of 36 won third place for John E. Thomas, Ruby Wilkes, Ralph Newton and George Hewitt.

Merle Codlin hit the longest ball for the ladies (as usual) and Elizabeth Wright was nearest to the hole.

Longest ball for the men was hit by Ralph Palmer. Bill O'Neill was the man nearest to the hole.

Donated prizes were drawn for and some really wild shirts were given to some unsuspecting recipients. This brought much laughter from the crowd.

Thank you to the owners of Blairhampton Golf Club who donated some very nice door prizes for extra draws. These were won by Ted Wilkes, Angela O'Neill, Bob Wiltshire, Bob Bullen and Gladys Marquardt.

Don't forget, Monday, October 5, is Membership Night at 7:30 p.m. at the Club. Wine and cheese.

Congratulations to Gregory Paul Brown, on completing his Master of Science degree, Zoology, at the University of Guelph, on June 4, 1992. Greg is the son of Claude and Margaret Brown of Minden, and is presently employed with the Canadian Wildlife Federation. He plans to work towards his Doctoral Degree in 1993.

Summer skating fun in the city

Skating? Is it that time of year again?

Yes, for some of us it is but, for some of our skaters summer is a time for skating too.

Andrea Pawluch spent seven weeks of her summer skating at Thornhill, at the end of which she competed in competitions against skaters from across the province. Andrea was also successful in obtaining her sixth figure and one of her gold dances.

There were three more enthusiastic skaters who travelled to Lindsay Skating School during August. Louise Howell, Marita Schrader and Tristan Pawluch.

Now many of the skaters are getting ready to attend the Highland Skating School, which is held in Haliburton during September.

They will resume regular winter skating at the Minden Arena, starting October 19 which includes the Canskate program, Canfigure and test program skating.

The Club is looking forward to seeing lots of new skaters and their parents as well as all of the regular skaters.

Women unite

Thirty-two people marched along the near-deserted downtown streets of Haliburton last Tuesday night in the third annual Take Back the Night March. About a third of the group were children and they added their voices to chants like, "Women unite, take back the night." There were no incidents during the march, perhaps because of the police escort who drove alongside the group.

Wilberforce man dies in accident

During the week of September 7-13 officers of the Minden Detachment investigated numerous incidents.

Charged Break and Enter

Two young offenders have been charged with break

enter and theft after a police investigation into a break in at the Guilford Boy in West Guilford. As well as break and enter the two have been charged with other offenses relating to the theft of boats. The investigation is continuing.

Fatal Car Accident

Alexander Gillies, 63, of Wilberforce died in a single vehicle accident late on September 10. Gillies was returning home when he lost control of his vehicle, which rolled into Dark Lake just outside the Village of Wilberforce. The vehicle was found submerged shortly after 8 a.m. on September 11.

Crime of the week

During the evening hours of September 11 and 12 unknown persons broke into the Mom's Arcade/Beaver Valley Sausages building in Minden. Once inside they stole small amounts of change from various locations. They then went to the basement of Gramma's Fish and Chips and started a fire. Damage to the building was limited.

If you have any information about this or any other crime, call Lindsay Crimestoppers at 1-800-563-TIPS (8477). You will never be asked to reveal your identity or to testify in court. If your information leads to an arrest Lindsay Crimestoppers will pay up to $1,000 in cash.

Minden Baptist Church holds final service

After just three years, the Minden Baptist Church has closed its doors. The congregation met for the last time September 13 at the Minden Curling Club. The congregation, led by Murray Sisson, met during the winter months at Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

As the congregation met for the final time, Murray Sisson had the following comments about the church's three years:

"The Minden Baptist Church began February 12, 1989, out of a need for individuals and families who wanted a small church environment, to work through struggles and be nurtured with understanding support.

"This church has always used acceptable accessible facilities for the physically challenged, so they feel welcome at our services.

"Some highlights included initiating a gospel sing in May 1991, which was well attended. This led to a second similar event in 1992.

"Prayer has been an integral part of the church—praying for community people as well as congregational families. "Also, we, with other churches in town, have shared community services, enjoying the fellowship.

We close in celebration today, Sunday September 13, 1992, rejoicing wholeheartedly in what God has done."

As the church closed its books for the final time, the financial resources of the congregation were donated to the Canadian Sunday School Mission, to assist that organization in its efforts.

First time hunters require training course before licencing

If you are a new hunter and wish to obtain an Ontario hunting licence for the first time, or have not held an Ontario hunting licence since January 1, 1968, you are required to complete a Hunter Training Course and successfully pass a hunting licence examination.

Minimum wage goes up Nov. 1

Effective November 1, the Ministry of Labour will be making the following changes to minimum wage in Ontario.

General: (including domestics) will increase from $6 to $6.35/hr. Students: under 18, $5.55 to $5.90/hr. Liquor servers: remains at $5.50/hr. Hunting and fishing guides: less than five consecutive hours in a day, $30 to $31.75/hr; more than five hours in a day whether consecutive or not, $60 to $63.50/hr.

For additional information call the Employment Standards Branch, Ontario Ministry of Labour toll-free at 1-800-367-2965 or 1-800-268-6541.

Have you considered becoming a volunteer, your skills and talent will add to the betterment of our community. For further information contact your nearest Information Centre in Haliburton or Minden.

Hunter training courses will be held in September. Instructors should be contacted directly regarding dates and location of courses. Instructors in the Minden area have been listed below.

Grassroots:

Bringing the environment home

Last week, I wrote about the urban forest project of Grassroots Albany, an environmental group formed three years ago by people who live on the 200 block of Albany Street in Toronto. The group is committed to environmental action beginning in the local neighborhood, a concept that has spread to other towns in Canada.

Meeting once a month, eight to 15 regulars invite occasional "consultants" on specific issues and welcome visitors from neighboring blocks or other communities. As well as opportunities to discuss projects, meetings reinforce the social bonding between neighbors. In this one city block, the array of talent is impressive as, I suspect, it would be on virtually any block. Grassroots Albany has people in acting, writing, teaching, graphic arts, archeology, construction, gardening, law, computers and a lot more.

In the past, Grassroots Albany has initiated projects to recycle fine white paper, collect toxic chemicals and take inventory of the urban forest. Their latest idea reminds me of how uprooted we are. We move frequently and often fail to note special landmarks or biological and geological idiosyncrasies of our neighborhood. Try checking out peculiarities on your block like slight bends or dips in the road, irregular shaped lots, houses that have chronically wet basements or backyards that flood regularly. How are the alleys and back lanes arranged? Are there any ponds, creeks or wetlands?

That's how some of the Albany Street residents realized that a creek must have flowed through the block at one time. Indeed, one elder recalled seeing pictures of a small bridge that straddled a creek. Long ago the block was part of the Tattle Creek watershed, but had been tamed to flow through culverts, tiles and ditches. Then it disappeared from memory.

Grassroots Albany will dig a soil pit in a backyard under the professional archaeological supervision of a neighbor to "see what's under there." Are pipes to be found? Are they still intact? If the remnants of the creek bed are found, could the course of the waterway be re-exposed? Some even dream that enough water still flows underground to refill ponds in backyards.

Long before we became sensitive to ecology and the preciousness of our environment, terrible atrocities were committed to the landscape in the name of development as swamps were filled, creeks buried and woods cut down. Yet nature is astonishingly forgiving and if given a chance, can return to where it has been wiped out. Grassroots Albany is looking to the earth with love and care in the hopes of discovering some of the area's history and of being beneficiaries of some of nature's generosity.

The Grassroots concept has spread from Toronto and here are a few I know of. Grassroots Humewood (170 Humewood Dr., York, Ont., M6C 2W8) is a small, but dedicated group of about six core members who live within walking distance of the local school. They have sponsored "litterless lunch" days for students and pushed to stop the use of toxic cleaning fluids in the school. Their biggest project has been a campaign to get the

by David Suzuki

City of York to stop using pesticides. They got pesticide spraying along curb sides and sidewalks stopped although they still have tough battle to prevent it in the parks.

Grassroots Woodstock (263 Graham St., Woodstock, Ont., N4S 6K6) covers people in Oxford County. They investigated the hazards of, and opposed, a proposed biomedical incinerator and successfully stopped a developer from draining a wetland on the edge of the city (they must go to court). They have begun the Oxford Resources Centre to look at waste management and already have plastics and milk carton pickup and treatment. Their biggest project is sponsorship of an annual environmental fair.

Grassroots Ingersoll (12 Laurel Crescent, Ingersoll, Ont., N5C 3S4) has instituted a major cardboard pickup and recycling program.

The story of Grassroots Calgary (428-40th St. SW, Calgary, Alta., T3C 1W1) is spectacular. Begun in 1989, there are now at least 55 groups in the city. They invited the newly elected mayor for lunch and he has been very supportive since. An early project was BYOB - Build Your Own Bin - to help people make their own compost boxes. They have held clothing exchanges. Their greatest achievement was to get city-wide recycling with regular pickups. They sponsor two or three public meetings a year with guest speakers talking about such issues as forests in Northern Alberta, native problems in the Arctic and food in the Third World. Last year, Grassroots Alberta, supported by the Alberta Pesticide Action Network, sponsored a Flower Power program in which flowers made by children were placed on lawns that didn't use chemicals.

The Grassroots concept provides people with a sense of belonging in a community and a real opportunity to bring about environmental change. This is where the thrust of the movement must be in the coming years.

Concert will help safety network

The second annual benefit for the YWCA Women's Safety Network will take place on Saturday, September 26, at 8 p.m. at Medley's Dance Hall at the corner of highways 35 and 118 in Carnarvon.

"An exciting lineup of musical performers has been arranged," says benefit organizer Zoe Chilco. "The music will range from blues, folk and country to contemporary. There is something for everyone."

The benefit will feature Toronto's Mose Scarlett who will be subbing in for Ken Whitely, the performer originally scheduled for the show.

Scarlett has worked with Whitely and has played with Raffi and Bruce Cockburn, who also produced Scarlett's album "Stalling For Time" a few years ago.

As well, there will be plenty of local talent playing including Sue Valm, Brian Marquardt, Fay Robichaud, Ed Poropat, Myrna McBrien, Thom Lambert, Sue Shikaze, Sherri Hawkins and Eric Litman.

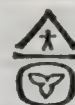

Proceeds from the benefit will be used to build a women's shelter in Haliburton County in the future.

The YWCA Women's Safety Network is an organization dedicated to providing crisis intervention and support to women who are/have been physically, sexually or emotionally abused by their partners.

Tickets are $10 (students, seniors and unemployed - $5) and are available at various locations in Haliburton, Minden, and Carnarvon. Tickets will also be available at the door.

For more information phone 457-3355 or 489-4171.

Provincial government announces a new approach to industrial policies

Ontario is in need of jobs — decent, secure jobs for ourselves and our children.

Jobs are the number one priority of the Ontario government. This province has been dealt a heavy blow by the recent recession. Offshore competition, plant closures, the high dollar and the Free Trade Agreement have cost this province thousands and thousands of jobs.

The provincial government is committed to repairing this damage. We want to create jobs — both in the short-term and in years to come. Our spring Budget — through the Jobs Ontario Training Fund, the Jobs Ontario Capital Fund and the Jobs Ontario Homes Fund — is helping to create tens of thousands of new jobs to battle the ravages of this recession. Any one looking to get involved with the government's job creation programs, may contact my constituency office for further information.

But we do need to do more than short-term employment. We need a plan, a policy, a framework for action that can help to fundamentally change our economy. We need such a plan so that we can take action to strengthen our basic competitive position in the world. This is the recently

Drainville Diary A report from Queen's Park

With Dennis Drainville, MPP

Industrial Policy Framework for Ontario

The policy is intended to bring together Ontario's major economic partners such as companies, unions, communities and institutions. We want to create a collective effort to rebuild our economy that will put it on a solid competitive footing for the future.

The central idea in the policy is the concept of higher value added. What this means in the ordinary language of business is that the economy must begin to produce more valuable goods and services. We must start to produce high-quality, differentiated goods and services which command a premium price from customers.

This doesn't mean just high technology. While the high tech sector could benefit from this approach, we believe there are possibilities for upgrading in all sectors and regions. This policy is as much about small shop industries and business in small towns or resource industries in the north as it is about large high tech industries in major centres.

In other words, we are going to have to change our traditional way of producing and marketing products and services. We can no longer rely on our natural resources to give us our competitive advantage in the world — we must create our competitive advantage through a cooperative effort of all economic partners.

This means changing the way we do things. As a start, I want to say that the Ontario government is committed to changing the way it relates to the economy.

We are committed to changing the way we invest for the future. We will invest in training to create an educated motivated and highly skilled workforce. We will also invest in public and technological infrastructure to ensure we have first-class transportation, communication, education and technology facilities.

We must change how we work with companies. The government is committed to working with economic sectors in addition to individual companies. We're going to target strategic groups of companies and we're going to make dealings with business more efficient.

We are also going to change the way we manage economic change. We have to recognize the importance of the environmental impact of all our industries. We also need to keep abreast of the changing nature of international trade. Further, we need to improve the flexibility of our workplaces and to develop the participation and cooperation necessary to sustain continuous innovation. And we need to share the costs of these policies, so that no particular group or community bears an unfair adjustment burden.

If Ontario wants to maintain and increase its high quality, high wage jobs, it will have to create a new sense of competitiveness — a competitiveness which unites the perspectives of business with the values of social equity and environmental sustainability.

I am committed to these values and hope the various sectors of Victoria and Haliburton counties are as well. For more information on the Industrial Policy Framework, please contact my constituency office at 324-6654 or 1-800-461-7672.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF STANHOPE

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Municipal Corporation of the Township of Stanhope, proposes to enact a by-law to stop up, close and convey to the abutting property owners those parts of the original shore road allowance set out and described as follows:

FIRSTLY: Being in the Township of Stanhope in the County of Haliburton and being composed of Part of the 66' original shore road allowance along the north shore of the Gull River flowing through Lot 14 Concession III and being more particularly described as Parts 2, 3 and 4, Plan 19R 3466.

SECONDLY: Being in the Township of Stanhope in the County of Haliburton and being composed of Part of the 66' original shore road allowance along the north shore of the Gull River flowing through Lot 14 Concession III and being more particularly described as Part 2, Plan 19R 5379.

THE PROPOSED BY-LAW will come before the said Council for consideration at its regular meeting of council at the Municipal Office in the Township of Stanhope on the 14th day of October, 1992 at the hour of 11:30 A.M., and at that time, the council will hear in person or by his/her counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected and who applied to be heard.

NOTICE

(File# 91-14)

IN THE MATTER OF the Municipal Act; and IN THE MATTER OF a proposed By-law of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden to stop up, close and convey to the adjoining landowners portions of the original allowance for road along the shore of Bat Lake lying in front of Part of Lot 5, Concession 1, in the Township of Minden.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 301 (1) (a) of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1980, as amended, that the Council of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden proposes to consider and, if deemed advisable, to pass at its regular meeting to be held in the Municipal Council Chambers on Milne Street, Minden, Ontario on October 8, 1992 at the hour of 10:00 a.m. a By-law to stop up, close and convey those parcels of land more particularly described as follows:-

Parts of the original allowance for road along the shore of Bat Lake in front of Lot 5, Concession 1, in the Township of Minden, in the County of Haliburton, designated as Part 1 on a plan of survey by H.C. Bishop, dated December 3, 1991.

The plan of survey is available for inspection in the Municipal Office, at Minden, Ontario during regular office hours.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that before passing the said By-law at the meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned, the Council shall then and there hear in person or by his or her counsel, solicitor, or agent, any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Minden this 28th day of August, 1992.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LUTTERWORTH PUBLIC NOTICE

File #SR-2/92

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Municipal Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth, proposes to enact a by-law to stop up, close and convey to the abutting property owners a portion of the original allowance for road set out and described as follows:

FIRSTLY: ALL and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Lutterworth, in the County of Haliburton and being composed of part of the original sixty-six foot shore road allowance along the shore of Gull Lake, lying in front of Part of Lot 10, Concession 12, and being more particularly described as Parts 1 & 3 on a Plan deposited in the Registry Office for the Registry Division of the County of Haliburton as Plan 19R5583.

THE PROPOSED BY-LAW will come before the said Council for consideration at its Regular Meeting at the Municipal Office, located three miles south of Minden on Highway #35 on the 15th day of October, 1992, at the hour of 7:00 p.m. and at that time, the Council will hear in person or by his or her counsel, solicitor or agent any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected and who applies to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Lutterworth this 8th day of September, 1992.

Mary Jane Irwin, A.M.C.T. (A),
Clerk-Treasurer,
Township of Lutterworth,
Box 850,

Nominations sought for national citizenship awards

Are there people in your community who are showing leadership in provincial and national organizations and should be recognized for their outstanding citizenship?

If so, you should nominate them for the Citation for Citizenship award, given each year by Multiculturalism and Citizenship Minister Gerry Weiner.

This prestigious award will be presented to 25 individuals and organizations from across Canada during National Citizenship Week, April 11-17, 1993.

The citations recognize Canadian leaders and organizations who give their time and expertise to strengthen the fabric of Canadian society. Whether they are active in the private, public or volunteer sectors, they are committed to a variety of activities which encourage others to get involved and to promote the values of Canadian citizenship - freedom, justice, equality and respect for diversity.

Since they were instituted in 1988, the Citations for Citizenship have been awarded to 125 Canadian individuals and organizations.

To encourage nominations from your community, inform your colleagues, fellow volunteers and other people in your organizations of this award. Ask your board of directors to submit nominations or distribute Citation brochures and nomination forms to community leaders, local organizations and others.

Brochures and nomination forms have been widely distributed across the country. If you want a nomination form or more information on the Citation for Citizenship or National Citizenship Week, contact: Citizenship Registration and Promotion, Multiculturalism and Citizenship Canada, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 1K5 or phone (819) 953-4229.

Nomination forms must be submitted to the above address by December 1, 1992.

Buying Or Selling A Used Vehicle? Here's What You Must Know.

Starting October 1, 1992, the Ontario retail sales tax you pay when you privately buy a used car, van or light truck, will be based on the purchase price or the average wholesale value, whichever is more. The average wholesale value is set using the Canadian Red Book, a well-known standard in the used vehicle business.

The tax is paid when you change the vehicle ownership at your local Driver and Vehicle Licence Issuing Office.

Some changes in ownership, such as gifts between certain family members, are tax-free with legal proof.

Starting April 1, 1993, if you want to sell your vehicle privately, you will have to buy a vehicle transfer package and give it to the buyer before the sale is completed. The package will be available at all Driver and Vehicle Licence Issuing Offices and from the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations. Consumers will benefit from information on the vehicle's history, outstanding debts on the vehicle and retail sales tax.

If you're planning to buy or sell a used vehicle privately and would like more information, call 1-800-263-7965. Telephone Device for the Deaf, call 1-800-263-7776.

Residents celebrate birthdays

On the weekend of September 5 and 6 we were well entertained. Saturday by Louise Leonard and Sunday, Mary Guillemine came to read. Mary is reading "Jewels" by Danielle Steel. This was followed by singing and piano by Darlene Compton. We sincerely thank Louise, Mary and Darlene for helping us over the weekend.

Rev. John Burgess conducted our Sunday night Chapel service. Our singing was done without an organist since Alice Jones and Leon were visiting their daughter. Thank you John.

Monday, very little was done except movies in the evening shown by Alan and Ruth Rice. They were "Best Horses" and "Blue Heartland" about the Great Lakes. We appreciate and thank them very much.

Pastor Murray took Tuesday morning Chapel service. The residents thank him heartily. In the afternoon, we had crafts in the craft room.

Wednesday, Doris gave us a short trip to the White Water Rapids below Horsehoe Lake and we went to Mr. D's Donut on the Minden bypass for our choice of treat and coffee. Everyone enjoys this very much.

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Our best congratulations to "Isabel" Eastman on her 104th birthday, September 9.

Wednesday evening we had the pleasure of three gentlemen - Earle, Adrian and Sid Cooper - to entertain us with piano, guitar, violin and spoon music. We enjoyed it immensely and thank them for coming.

Thursday tea party was supplied and served by the Ladies of Kinmount Legion - Joyce Hughes, Thelma Francis and Tracy Pitken. A birthday celebration was had in combination with the tea party. Gladys Kirkpatrick was 90-years-old. Her family, Tom and Harold and their wives, and her sister Grace Sipe were with her. She received many messages of congratulations and gifts of beautiful flowers as well as a lovely cake. Sincere thanks to all who helped with this successful afternoon.

In the evening, we had bingo with Kathy Cowen, Brandon Jarvis and Valerie Patterson calling and aiding the residents. Thank you very much.

The Happy Hour was entertained by Don White and Charlie Hadley. They play beautifully together. Those who looked after the needs of the residents and their guests were Don and Ellen Holden and Mary Guillemine as well as Doris and Gregg. We heartily thank them all.

Minden W.I. September meeting

The September 16 meeting of Minden Women's Institute was at the Library Cultural Centre with the president in the chair.

After the usual opening we observed a minute of silence for deceased member Vera Ward. The minutes, correspondence, roll call and treasurer's reports were given.

We had up-dated the Tweedsmuir Books and expenses of these are to be paid. The president thanked all who helped in any way at our summer sales and on ticket selling with articles for our winning entry at the Fair.

Irene Moore gave a report of 34 cards sent since June meeting for a variety of occasions. Collections were taken for this Card Fund and Pennies For Friendship. We are not taking the Leaders Course but may ask another Branch to send their leaders to us.

Members offered lunch and their services for the tea at Hyland Crest on October 22 with Annie Kernohan in charge. There was a permanent motion made on the books that an In Memoriam donation be sent automatically after the death of a member.

Convenor, Maud Coulter, then read her paper "Food For the Brain" and this gave us new ideas for good food. Irene Moore then conducted a quiz on Vitamins with Mabel Deacon having the most correct.

Our next meeting is October 21 at 2 at The Terrace and hopefully more members will attend.

We then adjourned and enjoyed snacks and a chat with others.

After Thanksgiving the up-dated Tweedsmuir Village Histories will be back at Minden Library; drop in and take time to see what has been done and add your data if it is not included.

Hats off to driver volunteers

A small army of volunteers across Ontario delivers meals to those who require them every day, including people who are physically challenged, convalescents needing short term assistance and frail elderly, all wanting to remain in familiar surroundings.

"Our volunteers are one bunch of terrific people and we could not operate without them," said Haliburton County Home Support Services (HCHSS) Coordinator Marilyn Pennycock. "No matter what the weather, they are there and the meals go out on time."

HCHSS is a non-profit organization whose volunteers have been delivering meals for the past 12 years in our community.

"Often the clients drop us little notes of appreciation telling us that the companionship of a regular visitor helps to keep their spirits up," said Board of Directors President Adele Barnes.

Not only does delivering a nutritious meal serve as an opportunity for a friendly chat, it also acts as a security check, giving the volunteer a chance to assess whether or not the client's health remains stable. For instance, if meals are not eaten, left on the counter or stored in the refrigerator, this is reported back to the Meals on Wheels coordinator who will make enquiries and see that appropriate caregivers are notified.

"The resource that's in the shortest supply are volunteers," said Executive Director Donna Pacey. "We need people to give us a couple of hours every day, or three times a week, or even once a month if that's all they can manage. Once we get a volunteer interested, they usually stay with us a long time because they recognize how valuable the service is and it makes them feel good to help their neighbor."

To enlist in the service of HCHSS or to request Meals on Wheels, please call Marilyn Pennycock at 457-2941 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Assistance available for home renovations

The Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation Residential Rehabilitation Program (RRAP) is a federal program designed to assist seniors and low-income families make necessary repairs to their homes.

Depending upon the household income and the continuous occupancy of the home for a period of five years, up to $5,000 could be forgivable.

Residents of the following areas may apply by contacting their nearest Information Centre: the Municipality of Dysart et al, the Municipality of Anson, Hinton and Minden, Townships of Lutterworth, Snowdon, Stanhope, Sherborne, Livingstone and McClintock.

In Haliburton, the centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building on Maple Avenue and it is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday to Friday or phone 457-2733. If you reside in the Minden area, the office is located in the Municipal Building on Milne Street, open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday and Tuesday or phone 286-4100.

TO ALL THE ORGANIZERS OF EVENTS IN THE COUNTY OF HALIBURTON

The Haliburton Chamber of Commerce is establishing a Master Events Calendar. The purpose of this initiative is to have one central record in the County of all events coming up during the next year (or further ahead if the dates have been set). This Master Events Calendar will be available for consultation by all agencies and the public. One of its uses will be to permit event organizers to select dates that do not clash with the dates already set for other events. The success of this depends on organizers advising the Chamber of the date, time, place and nature of their event.

A second purpose for the information received will be its use to provide information on larger events of interest to the general public and our visitors and which will be included in the Attractions and Events Pamphlet which the Chamber will be publishing and distributing quarterly. The first Events and Attractions Pamphlet will be distributed to resorts, business and public offices at the end of September.

You are invited to provide information about your forthcoming events to the Chamber by phoning in or writing to:

Karen Eager, Haliburton Chamber of Commerce
P.O. Box 147, 1-705-286-1760
Minden, Ontario

CARDS OF THANKS

A sincere thank you to all my family, friends and neighbours who helped celebrate my 93rd birthday. Thank you all so much for the lovely gifts, cards and phone calls and for the wonderful food. Thank you everyone for all the work that went into my party. Much appreciation and thanks. Annie Miscio.

The family of the late Waneeta Hogg express our sincere thanks to our friends, family and neighbours for their kind words, cards, flowers, food and donations during our recent loss. Thank you to Dr. Holliday-Rhodes and to the nurses and staff of Minden Hospital and also to the Doctors and nurses of the Intensive Care Unit at the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay. A special thank you to the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home for their professional service and guidance, to Randy Warburton for his comforting words, to the pallbearers, Jerry Bull, Kirk Bull, Neil Bull, Chris Davis, Jim Davis and Bill Skelding and to Murray and Shirley Davis for a lovely luncheon following the service. To all of you, your kindness will never be forgotten.
